Saved Mine Option

A WESTERN Mining Engineer, with an option on a valuable mine was about to close the deal, when, at the last minute, the Western capitalists withdrew their support. With a few hours left in which to find the money, he got New York on the Bell Long Distance Telephone, talked with a banking house and outlined the proposition, which they agreed to finance.

SENSATIONAL KILLING OCCURS AT PENDLETON

CHIEF OF POLICE WHITLOCK FATALLY SHOTS FORMER STATE DETECTIVE C. W. ROBERTSON

WHITLOCK DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF IT

Says Someone Struck Him in Head With Axe Handle and He Drew His Pistol and Opened Fire.

Charles W. Robertson, formerly a State detective under Governor Blaise, was shot and instantly killed late yesterday afternoon at Pendleton by Chief of Police S. H. Whitlock of that place. Causes underlying the tragedy were not revealed last night, and it was authoritatively stated, if these are not shown today at the inquest it is probable that the trial of the case will bring to light some interesting details.

Whitlock was brought to Anderson last night by Sheriff Ashley and lodged in the county jail. Interviewed upon his arrival by a representative of The Intelligencer, he stated that he knew nothing as to events immediately preceding the killing, and did not know that he had shot Robertson until advised so by the physicians who dressed severe wounds which had been inflicted on his head with a bludgeon of some description. "I was standing in Campbell's store," said Whitlock, "when someone approached me from behind and struck me a terrific blow in the back of the head with an axe handle. I do not remember firing upon anyone, and did not know what had taken place until I was told by Doctors Watkins and Day, who dressed my wounds."

Several questions were put to the prisoner by The Intelligencer reporter, but all that could be had from him was that he knew nothing what had happened. When asked if he had seen Robertson at any time during the day previous to the difficulty in the store, Whitlock replied that he didn't know, that he might have seen him for all he knew. Sheriff Ashley had no little time at Pendleton that he did not make an investigation of the case, but returned immediately upon the first train with the prisoner. It is understood that a jury of inquest was impaneled last night for the purpose of viewing the body in order that it might be removed to the home. The coroner will go up to Pendleton this morning and conduct the usual investigation.

It was learned from reliable source that Whitlock and Robertson had not been on the best of terms for some time, and it is thought that had blood was probably at the bottom of the tragedy. As to circumstances leading up to the killing, however, nothing could be learned. As stated, the sheriff did not have time to make an investigation of the affair; and telephone communication with Pendleton last night could not be had.

Up until something like a year ago, it is stated, Robertson held a commission as a State detective under Governor Blaise. For some time he worked at Chesterfield with Sheriff D. P. Douglas. Since the election of Mr. Manning as governor, it is understood, Robertson had been seeking re-appointment. The dead man was some 40 years of age and was born in the Honea Path section of the county. He has one brother, Lawton

Robertson, in Abbeville county. Another brother, Frank Robertson, formerly chief of police at Belton, is a resident of this city, being proprietor of the Gretchen Inn, on South Main street. Robertson was at one time chief of police at Pendleton and had been making his home there for a number of years. He is said to have been exceptionally popular in his community.

S. H. Whitlock stated last night that he had been chief of police at Pendleton for 11 years. That he had been death a terrific blow in the head with a club or stick, was evident from the spectacle which he presented when brought to the county jail last night. His entire head was encased in heavy bandage and his collar and shirt drenched with blood. He exhibited several severe bruises on his left arm, which appeared to be so sore that he could not bear touching it.

Though direct information relative to the homicide could not be had last night, it was learned from sources considered reliable that Whitlock contained the contents of a Smith and Wesson special 6-shooter pistol at Robertson, but that only one bullet took effect, this striking the latter just above his left hip. Robertson is said to have walked the length of the store before he fell and expired.

The shooting took place at 5:40 o'clock. Immediately upon receipt of notice of the affair, Sheriff Ashley left for Pendleton, going on the 6 o'clock train. He returned to the city on the train arriving here shortly after 8 o'clock. The killing has caused a turmoil in Pendleton, it is reported, where both men are well and favorably known.

ATLANTA LETTER

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 7.—Street car steps may remain as high as before and the petition to have them lowered probably will never be presented now that fashionable modistes are returning from the Eastern centers declaring that the tight skirt has gone to stay and that a full step may be taken in the new skirt without raising it to the knees.

The edict was promulgated by the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt manufacturers, association in session at Toledo, Ohio, last week. It was ordered that next spring Milady will wear a tailor-made suit with plenty of plaits in the skirt. The coat must be short, six inches from the ground.

Georgia will be short about ten million bushels of wheat this year, having to buy that much from other states, according to the latest national agricultural report. The per capita wheat consumption in Georgia is about the same as in other states and the production very light, and it is shown that about ten million bushels is annually consumed more than is raised.

All Atlanta theatre goers are looking forward to the coming of Maude Adams in her delightful Little Barri play "The Legend of Leonore" and "The Ladies' Shakespeare." Both are given on the same evening as each in short.

"The Legend of Leonore" is an original as Peter Pan. And so nobody could be expected to play the role quite so well as Maude Adams. She will appear at the Atlanta Theatre December 14, 15 and 16.

The Atlanta has a brilliant program with "High Winks" a musical comedy, and the favorite "Old Homestead" this week, and "Seven Keys to Baldpate" just following the Maude Adams dates.

Senator Hoke Smith is busily at work with the state department at Washington to further the interests of foreign shipments of cotton, by devising a system which will keep cotton separate from contraband goods and thus avoid delays in transit.

"I am going to recommend to cotton shippers," he said, "that there be an organized shipment of cotton from Savannah, Galveston and New Orleans to neutral ships, with tarponine and resin for ballast. Cotton shippers should be careful not to have on board any contraband goods whatsoever, and then, if the shipments are made through Holland, there will be no trouble in reaching Germany and Austria."

Atlanta is having another "gas rate battle" which probably will go before the railroad commission. The city electrician, who is an agent of the Atlanta Gas Light Co., has for some time been trying to arouse a demand for cheaper gas but no very wide-spread interest has been developed. The company, following its policy of frankness, is showing the public in its advertisements that the Atlanta rate is as low as can reasonably be made when the distance from coal fields and pipe foundries is considered.

Atlanta's rate is one dollar for thousand cubic feet, and the only southern city with a lower rate is Birmingham, where it is ninety-five cents, and Birmingham is in the midst of coal fields and pipe foundries, reducing greatly the transportation expense.

PROF. A. R. BANKS TO RETURN TO COLUMBIA
ESTEEMED TEACHER LEAVES FACULTY OF FRAZER FITTING SCHOOL WORK GOING ON
Financial Conditions Alone Responsible for Change Say Trustees.

The board of trustees of the Frazer Fitting School announced yesterday that Professor A. R. Banks has withdrawn from the faculty of the institution and that the work has been distributed so as to care for all of the classes. Professor Banks has been conversant with every movement of the institution since his connection with it in September. It was evident soon after the opening of the institution that the expenses would be in excess of the receipts. It is the settled policy of the institution to keep clear of anything like a large indebtedness. When the real situation was confronted Professor Banks very generously offered to withdraw from the institution, inasmuch as he was the most recent addition to the faculty, and inasmuch as his ties to Anderson were not so binding as those of other members of the faculty. The whole matter has been most satisfactorily arranged and Professor Banks in leaving the institution of his own accord has the highest esteem of the faculty and members of the board of trustees, and they are likewise esteemed by him. The services rendered by Professor Banks were most satisfactory and but for the great financial stress caused by the war in Europe there would have never been any thought of such a change in the plans of the institution.

Professor Banks goes to Columbia, his former home, while the work of the institution here goes on under the direction of the other members of the faculty. Dr. Frazer has asked the board of trustees to relieve him of any further responsibility for the discipline and the finances of the institution. He will remain as the head master and professor of Bible.

The institution has done remarkably fine work and it is so arranged as to carry on the work in the future without any lowering of the standard set by the former achievements of the institution.

Grain Elevator Matter Hangs In The Balance

Committee to determine Friday whether to continue efforts

Small crowd attended meeting yesterday in Courthouse for purpose of discussing matter

Whether it is worth while at this time to continue efforts looking toward the erection of a grain elevator Anderson will be decided at a meeting of the business men's and farmers' grain committee of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting to be held next Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

The decision to let the matter hinge thusly was reached yesterday afternoon by a few business men and farmers who gathered in the courthouse in response to the call for a general rally of farmers and business men for the purpose of thoroughly understanding and "putting across" the proposition to erect here an elevator for the purpose of creating a market for and handling the grain which will be raised in this county. Those who had called the meeting made no attempt to conceal their disappointment, but are not going to give up the proposition until further efforts have been made to enlist the interest and assistance of farmers and business men. At the meeting it was decided to throw out a few "feelers" by calling upon farmers and business men present to state how much stock they would subscribe to the proposition. These efforts are to be continued through the week, and by Friday the committee hopes to know whether it is worth while to continue the movement looking to the erection of the elevator.

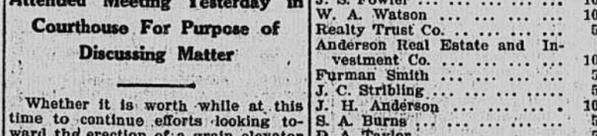

If the committee decides that it is worth while to continue the efforts to erect the elevator, committees will be appointed for the purpose of soliciting subscriptions to the capital stock of the project.

Among those present at the meeting in the courthouse and from persons seen at random on the streets the following subscriptions to the capital stock of a $10,000 elevator company were secured:

The Original Optimist

Robinson Crusoe was the original optimist. Times looked bad for Robinson—couldn't have looked worse. But he didn't say "What's the use? I ain't no doctor, whimper, kick, and growl at destiny."

No, Crusoe used his head; he thought—then he thought some more—real serious line of thinking. Just what to do was the puzzle Crusoe was solving. Finally it came to him in a flash—"I hit it!" said Robinson. "I'll advertise!"

A thousand miles from nowhere—a possible buyer coming within reading distance of his ad every few years—that was Robinson's outlook. It was hard times—business depression, a stringent money market—also what Sherman said about war.

But Crusoe, as before mentioned, was an optimist, also a believer in persistent advertising.

He wanted a ship—how would he get it? Answer—"Advertise!" And he did—dug a shirt from the top of a pole.

The first advertisement brought no returns.

But Crusoe wasn't discouraged. He changed the "copy"—put on another shirt. Yes, times were hard—awful hard; but Crusoe won out—he got his ship—and he got it by persistent advertising.

Crusoe was the original optimist—"Burroughs" Ading Machine Co.
